

Postdoctoral Scientific Editing and Reviewing Team (PSERT)

Invitation to Peer Editing Training

Two 90-minute training sessions are provided for all interested postdocs and PhD graduate students. After the training, postdocs and upper level PhD students can join PSERT if they are interested.

What PSERT does

PSERT engages in editing and reviewing manuscripts (scientific papers, reviews, master thesis, reports, grants and other scientific works).

How we prepare you

PSERT works with the Office for Professional Writing, Publishing, and Communication to offer editing and reviewing training.

Training dates

Improve Content and Clarity. 08/01, 12-1:30
Improve Correctness. 08/08, 12-1:30

Location: Scott 200A

Editorial Workshop open for All

<http://library.jefferson.edu/tech/training-5.cfm>

RSVP at PSERT@Jefferson.edu

Contact Editor Ankit Rochani or
Office of Professional Writing, Publishing, and Communication Research Writer Pam Walter
URL: <https://www.jefferson.edu/university/life-sciences/postdoctoral-affairs/postdoctoral-association/PSERT.html>

Who can join

If you are a researcher working at Thomas Jefferson University (TJU) and interested in developing your reviewing, editing, and writing skills, you can join.

Training is open to ALL postdocs and graduate students

How PSERT works

Participants must get permission from their PIs, and all editors sign confidentiality agreements.

All postdocs and researchers are welcome to SUBMIT.*

Open for all Workshop

Scan me